

2024-2025

SERVICE LEARNING

At the Albert Einstein College of Medicine, one of our missions is to provide our students with opportunities to foster meaningful connections and collaboration with the Bronx community. Einstein’s longitudinal Service-Learning Course was developed in 2022 in alignment with this mission. In this course, students will learn about the needs and strengths of the Bronx and other local communities by pairing active community service with critical reflection and a dedicated curriculum imparting the knowledge, skills, and attitudes needed for successful community engagement.

Students will:

1. partner with community-based organizations (CBOs) to engage in meaningful service that meets the community’s identified needs and has reciprocal benefits to the student and the community served.
2. have structured time to prepare for, reflect on, and connect the service experience to professional competencies such as cultural humility, professionalism, inter- and intra-professional communication, teamwork, and social responsibility.
3. have opportunities to interweave service-learning with other educational and clinical experiences across the medical school curriculum to learn about and address social determinants of health in order to provide patient-centered care with cultural humility.

To achieve these goals, students will partner with a community-based organization in one of 12 focus areas to complete 40 hours of service over the course of one year. The focus areas and service-learning sites are described in the following pages:

Advocacy & Community Health Promotion

Advocacy & Community Health Promotion

Montefiore Office of Community & Population Health

Dedicated to advancing the health of the entire community, the Montefiore Office of Community and Population Health (MOCPH) works in partnership with community organizations to assess needs and resources and develop and implement innovative programs that address critical health issues faced by Bronx residents. Einstein students will develop and lead a workshop series on a variety of health topics with Bronx community groups and contribute to the community engagement plan for the 2025-2027 Bronx-wide Community Health Needs Assessment. Students will also assist the MOCPH team with survey collection in the Bronx.

Bronx Oncology Living Daily (BOLD) Cancer Wellness Program

BOLD is a wellness and support program open to anyone affected by cancer, including Montefiore Einstein Cancer Center patients, family caregivers and members of the cancer care community. Einstein students will provide health education and wellness workshops, conduct clinical outreach in the Bronx community around cancer screenings, perform quality of life assessments with Bronx cancer patients, participate in cultural and identity-based cancer outreach task forces, and engage in other activities involving cancer patient support and cancer outreach in the community.

Bronx Community Board 9

Bronx Community Board 9 serves the communities of Bronx River, Castle Hill, Clason Point, Harding Park, Parkchester, Park Stratton, Soundview / Bruckner, & Unionport. Bronx Community Board 9's mission is to create family friendly neighborhoods for all. Einstein students will attend community board meetings and events, collect and learn about city-wide and local resources available to our communities, engage in health-related projects that serve our residents, and engage seniors in community activities, share important information with them, and help seniors stay connected to current and future events to encourage their input and participation.

Human Rights & Access to Care

Einstein Community Health Outreach (ECHO) Free Clinic

The ECHO Free Clinic in the Bronx, New York City, offers free, high-quality healthcare to uninsured residents. Einstein students on the pre-clinical board use ECHO as a service-learning site, managing daily operations like patient intake, appointment scheduling, and supply oversight. With 16 positions and 24 seats, they ensure smooth clinic functions. Pre-clinical board members collaborate with the clinical board and medical directors through regular meetings and strategic planning. This hands-on experience enhances students' leadership, teamwork, and healthcare delivery skills, preparing them to become compassionate and competent healthcare professionals.

ECHO Pre-Clinical Board Coordinators

Community Education Coordinator (1) Coordinates tutoring and health education programs for the community, ensuring adequate training for volunteers. Manages outreach events and health lessons, enhancing educational support for local schools.

Front-Back Desk Coordinator (2) Oversees clinic scheduling, patient registration, and data entry, ensuring smooth clinic operations. Trains and supervises Front and Back Desk volunteers, addressing any procedural concerns.

Interpreter Coordinator (1) Recruits, manages, and trains Spanish interpreters, ensuring effective communication between patients and clinic staff. Coordinates translation of clinic documents and supports cross-cultural patient care initiatives.

Labs Coordinator (3) Manages lab operations, including stocking materials and tracking lab requisitions and results. Oversees the training of lab volunteers and ensures accurate input of lab data.

Patient Advocate Coordinator (2) Organizes health education and advocacy training sessions for patient advocate volunteers. Maintains patient advocate schedules and ensures volunteers are well-prepared to counsel patients.

Pre-Health Program & Scheduling Coordinator (2) Manages clinic schedules and the pre-health summer volunteer program, including application processing and training.

Public Health Coordinator (1) Manages volunteers for weekday call nights and vaccinations tracking. Coordinates public health efforts to help patients achieve long-term health goals.

Quality Improvement/Research Coordinator (1) Develops and implements initiatives to improve clinic functioning, supporting various research projects. Facilitates the creation of abstracts and poster presentations for conferences.

Referrals Coordinator (3) Ensures patients obtain necessary specialist consultations and tracks appointments and results. Trains referral volunteers and maintains communication with medical providers.

Reproductive Health Coordinator (1) Oversees reproductive health services and supplies, ensuring availability and proper management. Trains reproductive health volunteers and integrates services within the clinic workflow.

Weekly Coordinator (2) Prepares for patient visits by reviewing charts and anticipating potential clinic day issues. Leads projects to improve patient care and coordinates volunteer training.
